A long-time tradition in European casinos, this version of Roulette is fun and easy to play. The player simply places their bet with casino chips or special Roulette chips. If special coloured Roulette chips are used, the player determines the value of the chips when they buy in.

After the bets have been placed on the layout, the dealer spins the ball; if it lands where a player has placed their chip(s), they win! The payoff is determined by how many numbers a player's bet has covered (as listed in this brochure.) A player's coloured Roulette chips must be redeemed at the Roulette table.

Roulette Odds

Once a player purchases chips from the dealer, he or she is allowed to bet on any number, group of numbers, or betting areas. There are two categories of Roulette bets, outside bets and inside bets. Outside bets are more likely to produce a winner, as the chances to win are 50-50. Inside bets are riskier but can trigger bigger payouts. The dealer can also help with placing the bets, if requested.

Game Play

The purpose of Roulette is for players to correctly guess the number on which the ball will land after the spin. There are several types of bets to choose from and each of them has a different payout. The best paying odds are also the most unlikely to win.

Players are required to place their bets before the dealer drops the ball, but it is possible to wager when the wheel is in motion. The dealer will call "no more bets" to end the betting phase. Once the ball stops in its final resting place, the dealer will place a marker on the winning number, clear all losing bets and pay any winners. Then the marker is lifted off the table and a new betting round begins.
